Light on Prophecy William L. Pettingill 2017-10-16 Excerpt from Light on Prophecy: A Coordinated, Constructive Teaching; Being the Proceedings and Addresses at the Philadelphia Prophetic Conference; May 28-30, 1918 In the shadow of the tragedy of world-wide war Christians everywhere have been burdened in spirit and bewildered in mind by the complex conditions of the hour. But with an eagerness springing from a sense of personal need and a newly awakened desire to know the purposes of God as revealed in His 'word, many are turning with intense interest, and many indeed with rest ful assurance, to the prophetic utterances of the Word of God for light. The Second Coming of Christ Clarence Larkin 2010-01-01 The Reverend Clarence Larkin was one of the most widely influential thinkers on end-times prophecies of the early twentieth century, and his writings remain vital to appreciating the apocalyptic Christian thought that today enjoys widespread popularity. This 1918 work outlines exactly what the Bible predicts for the end of mankind's reign on Earth, and the return of the Christian savior, with a special emphasis on who is to be saved, and why. Numerous charts and illustrations depict the "Judgment Seat of Christ," "The Stages of the Second Coming," the "Failure of Man," and more. American Baptist pastor and author CLARENCE LARKIN (1850-1924) was born in Pennsylvania, and later set up his ministry there. He wrote extensively and popularly on a wide range of Biblical and theological matters.

Jews in the Japanese Mind David G. Goodman 2000 Why are the Japanese fascinated with the Jews? By showing that the modern attitude is the result of a process of accretion begun 200 years ago, this book describes the development behind Japanese ideas of Jews and how these images are reflected in their modern intellectual life

The Dispensational-Covenantal Rift R. Todd Mangum 2007-06-01 This groundbreaking study explores how the fight between dispensationalists and covenant theologians started and how a unique dynamic of personalities and sociological factors enflamed it. Readers may be surprised to discover that even the terminology of "dispensationalists" and "covenant theologians" originated in the 1930s' disputes; that the majority of the original protagonists on both sides were Presbyterians; and that soteriology, rather than eschatology, was the original bone of contention between them. This study examines how two respective strands of fundamentalism came to identify one another as theological rivals as they each vied for position in their recently formed separatist bodies. The significance of disagreements over "dispensationalism" is explored in the founding of the Orthodox Presbyterian and Bible Presbyterian churches. And then, as the debate traveled southward, the response of the PCUS is examined, with special attention given to the consummative reports of an ad hoc committee that found "dispensationalism" to be out of harmony with the Westminster doctrinal standards. Significant misunderstandings that impeded fruitful dialogue from the beginning are clarified, particularly those that have persisted most stubbornly to the present day. Perhaps most surprising of all, the reader will discover that nearly all of the original points of debate between dispensationalists and covenant theologians have since been resolved, as each side has honed its position in light of pertinent critiques. Why has this development gone almost unnoticed? This study suggests an answer, and proposes that understanding how the feud began may hold the key to rapprochement today.

When Christ Comes Again George Peck Eckman 2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1918 edition. Excerpt: ... APPENDIX Millennial Definitions Millenaeians, like the advocates of other doctrines not generally accepted by men, have a vocabulary quite their own. Sometimes they take terms which are already in use and impart to them a significance suited to their own purpose. Frequently these are terms found in the Bible but not used in the sense which millenarians ascribe to them. Sometimes they invent phrases which cannot be understood without explanation, and the explanation given is in the nature of an argument for the doctrine held. Having found that many people are confused by this practice, the author herewith subjoins a brief list of such words and phrases with definitions and expositions which he feels will enable the student to make proper distinctions. Other terms, not so singular, are also included in the list for the convenience of the general reader.

Abomination Op Desolation, The.--This phrase is found in Daniel 9. 27; 11. 31; 12. 11; and is quoted by our Lord in his Apocalyptic discourse on Mount Olivet, Matthew 24. 15; Mark 13. 14. In Daniel it refers to the profaning of the temple by Antiochus Epiphanes and the cessation of the daily sacrifice (see pages 62, 63, 263, 311, 312). In Christ's address it predicts a sacrilege of like character which, according to history, did occur at the destruction of Jerusalem when the overthrow of the national life and religion of the Jews was accomplished. Nevertheless, premillennialists apply both passages to the coming of the Antichrist at the end of the age, making this event a part of the Tribulation which, according to their program, is to precede the final return of Christ at the beginning of the millennium. Armageddon, Or Har-magedon.--Found only in Revelation 16. 16, but probably derived...

Living for Jesus and Japan Shibuya Hiroshi 2013-11 Uchimura Kanzo (1861 1930) was an independent, original, and thought-provoking pioneer of Christianity in modern Japan. His theological values were organically linked with his aspiration for living and practicing such evangelical ideas as prophetic existence, neighborly love, social justice, pacifism, patriotism, and internationalism in the sphere of public life. Uchimura's commitment to the interaction between religious thought and social life is apparent in his well-known epitaph: "I for Japan; Japan for the World; the World for Christ; and All for God." In this interdisciplinary, multi-angled approach to Uchimura Kanzo, the contributors shed light on the inner logic, meanings, and modes of interaction between the religious and social thought observable in Kanzo.

The Second Coming of Christ Sherburne Povah Tregelles Prideaux 2017-04-26 Excerpt from The Second Coming of Christ: An Essay in Interpretation The difficulties of the Apocalyptic element in the Gospels have long been a sore puzzle to many, and much light has recently been thrown upon its inner meaning and its perennial value by the world catastrophe of the war. The writer has here attempted to offer a solution for the one, and an interpretation of the other, hoping that both will be acceptable to thinking men and women of the present age Who long for light and direction in its mazes and perplexities. A good deal of space is devoted to the Jewish element, as it is essential to realise this background of Our Lord's teaching; and many references and quotations are given, in the hope that readers Will be induced to turn to larger works and original documents, and study the subject for themselves. Dispensational Truth, Or God's Plan and Purpose in the Ages Clarence Larkin 2010-07-01 The Reverend Clarence Larkin was one of the most widely influential pop theologians of the early twentieth century: his works are the source of many of the "prophecies" and "truths" end-times Christians hold to even today. This stupendous 1918 book-perhaps his greatest work-is the result of more than 30 years' worth of, the author informs us, "careful and patient study of the Prophetic Scriptures." Fully illustrated by charts describing God's plan for humanity, Dispensational Truth covers: Pre-Millennialism the Second Coming of Christ the present evil world the Satanic trinity the world's seven great crises prophetic chronology the threefold nature of man the Book of Revelation five fingers pointing to Christ the False Prophet and much more. American Baptist pastor and author CLARENCE LARKIN (1850-1924) was born in Pennsylvania, and later set up his ministry there. Our Day in the Light of Prophecy W. A. Spicer 2016-09-06 In Revelation 3:11, Jesus said, "Behold, I come quickly: hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown." Ever since Jesus ascended to Heaven, Christians have waited expectantly for His return. Each generation has wondered whether the signs of their day meant His return and the fulfillment of prophecy. In his early Twentieth century classic, Our Day in the Light of Prophecy, W.A. Spicer expounded on timeless truths and the events of his day in expectation of Christ's imminent return. Alacrity Press is proud to reprint this classic for a new generation. Spicer's work provides a historical example of how a past generation viewed Biblical prophecy with which to compare to our modern context. While nearly a century has passed since Spicer published this classic, the Bible is clear: Jesus will return to earth. As each day draws us closer, are you ready?
