The Baby Project Susan Meier 2011-04-05 "The Andreas brothers have arrived." As the secretary's announcement came through the speaker phone, attorney Whitney Ross turned from the window in her father's law office. The gathering January storm clouds above the New York City skyscrapers concerned her, but the Andreas brothers' visit would be every bit as tumultuous. Gerard Ross pressed a button on his phone. "Tell them I need five minutes." "You're enjoying this." "Not enjoying exactly." He grimaced, leaning his round body back in his office chair. He rhythmically tapped the blotter on his cherrywood desk. "How about if we say Stephone used his will to accomplish a few important things?" Though Whitney had never met Stephone Andreas's sons, the man had been a close friend of her father's. He'd come to dinner at least once a month from the time she was six, and had talked about "his boys" incessantly. So she suspected she knew what was going on. The senior Andreas had always believed his three sons needed a kick in the pants and it seemed he'd finally found a way to give them one. "You persuaded Stephone to use his will to force them to grow up." "This is about more than growing up. All three are smart. All three are good businessmen. Any one of them could take over the family holdings. But not one of them has a sense of loyalty or family." "And this is where the will comes in?" "Yes. Stephone made his oldest son, Darius, chairman and CEO and left him the Montauk estate. Whether that divides them for good or forces them to unite all depends on whether Darius takes the reins like a true leader." He rose and headed for the black leather sofa in the comfortable meeting area in the corner of his big law office. After he sat, he patted the spot beside him, indicating that it was where Whitney should sit for their upcoming meeting. "But before I bring the brothers in, there's something you need to know. Missy had something put in her will for you that Stephone agreed would also go into his." Whitney took the seat he'd offered. "Missy put something in her will for me?" She wasn't surprised. Missy Harrington had been her roommate from the time they were freshman at university the whole way through law school. With an alcoholic mom and a dad who'd left when Missy was young, Missy had adopted Whitney's family as her own, and they in turn had taken her under their wing. For seven years she'd shared every holiday and most of her vacations with the Rosses. Whitney had hardly seen Missy since she had introduced her friend to Stephone Andreas, but they had still shared a strong bond. "She didn't exactly leave you something. In accordance with Stephone's and Missy's wills, you and Darius got shared custody of their son." Whitney's stomach squeezed. "What?" "Okay. Look. It's been three years since the accident that took Burn and Layla. And though I had never dreamed that Missy and Stephone would die so soon when I let them put this provision in their wills, it's still time you came back to the land of the living." Her dad pulled a small envelope from one of the files in the stack on the coffee table. "She left this note for you." Whitney wrapped her hand around the envelope, and she paled. "In the unlikely event of their deaths, Stephone wanted Darius to raise their son, but Missy was adamant about you having joint custody. The Andreas brothers are rich and spoiled. And they don't even know their father had another son. It's anybody's guess how they'll react when they find out. I believe that Missy made you co-guardian to ensure that Gino was also in the hands of someone she knew could take the reins and care for her baby." "But I don't know Gino! When Missy and Stephone moved to Greece, we practically lost touch. I've never even met Gino. I'll be no better for this baby than his brother." He caught her hand. "You might not know Gino, but Missy knew you. She knew you had a sense of family. A sense of right and wrong. You've also been a mom. You'll get to know Gino and, as young as he is, Gino will grow accustomed to you, too." He squeezed her fingers. "Besides, you need this." She tried to bounce off the sofa, but her dad held fast to her hand. When she faced him her eyes were blazing. "No! I don't need this! I'm fine!" "You're not fine. Otherwise, getting custody of Gino wouldn't make you angry." He pressed a button on the phone on the coffee table that sat in the center of the circle made by the sofa and three black leather chairs. "Cynthia, bring in Gino, please." Whitney's heart stopped. Her stomach rolled. Her head spun. For the past three years she'd avoided even being near a baby. The scent of baby powder, the feel of snuggly blankets, the sight of someone so tiny, so helpless and so beautiful would have been her undoing. And now her father wanted her to take a baby into her home? The side door opened and Cynthia Smith walked in carrying six-month-old Gino Andreas in a baby carrier, along with a diaper bag and a duffel. Her father squeezed her hand again. "Your mother and I have been keeping Gino during the Andreas funerals, but it's time you took him." He rose and accepted the baby carrier from Cynthia. "Thank you, Cyn." She nodded and her blond hair bobbed. "You're welcome, sir." As Cynthia left the room, Whitney's father set the carrier on the sofa, pulled Gino out and presented the dark-haired, dark-eyed baby boy to her. "He's yours, Whitney." Knowing there was no arguing with her father, Whitney slid the envelope into her jacket pocket and took the six-month-old with shaking hands. He immediately began to cry. "Don't cry, sweetie," she crooned, automatically pressing his head to her shoulder to comfort him. "It's okay." Her instinctive response to his crying amazed her, but she wasn't surprised by the pain that sliced through her--the memories that flashed through her brain. Her daughter had been a tiny blonde with huge blue eyes. She'd rarely cried, except when she missed her mother.

She'd loved bananas and puppies. To Whitney, she'd seemed the smartest baby on the face of the earth. Tears filled her eyes. Her stomach tightened. She couldn't do this. Maybe she needed more time with her therapist, Dr. Miller? But before she could say anything to her dad, the office door opened. Wearing jeans, cowboy boots and a cable-knit sweater, Cade Andreas entered first. Behind him was Nick, the dark-haired, dark-eyed brother who most resembled the senior Andreas. And finally Darius. Taller than their father, but with eyes and hair as dark as his, striking in his expensive business suit, Darius was very clearly the leader of the group. Their expressions were solemn, yet strong. Almost arrogant. The head of the Andreas family was dead. They now controlled one of the largest shipping conglomerates in the world. Or so they thought. She glanced at the baby in her arms. For the first time in three years she felt a swell of protectiveness only a mother could feel, and she understood why Missy had given her custody along with Darius. The Andreas men were strong. Maybe too strong. And babies needed love. The question was did she have any left to give? "Are you kidding me?" Darius Andreas gaped at Gerard Ross, his deceased father's attorney, then at Gerard's daughter Whitney Ross, a tall, cool blonde with gray-blue eyes who looked nothing like her short, round father. The pair sat on the black leather sofa. The Andreas brothers sat across from them on three black leather chairs. Beside Whitney was a baby carrier and inside the carrier was a baby boy who looked to be only a few months old. His black hair and dark eyes marked him as an Andreas as clearly as Gerard Ross's pronouncement did. "I assure you, there's no joke." Gerard leaned back, getting more comfortable. "This little boy is your father's final son. There are four of you now." He picked up the will and began reading again. "It is my wish that the remaining two-thirds share of Andreas Holdings be divided equally among my four sons--Darius, Cade, Nick and Gino." Gino. A baby. His final half-sibling was a baby! Darius sucked in a breath, forcing that to sink in, but it wouldn't. His brain had frozen. He was stunned, speechless and working not to lose his temper over something he couldn't change. Nick and Cade appeared to be equally shell shocked. Finally, the business sense Darius had trusted his entire life came to his rescue. "I want a DNA test." The smooth leather sofa sighed when Gerard sat forward. He looked down at his entwined fingers, then caught Darius's gaze. "Your father might not have married Missy Harrington, but he's named on the birth certificate as Gino's father. Had Missy not died with your father, you might be fighting her for the company right now." "I still want DNA." "I understand you're surprised--" "Surprised? How about shocked? First our father calls us to the hospital after the accident to tell us that he gave one-third interest in the company to someone else. So we'll never fully own our own damned company. Then he tells us we have no sense of family and unless we pull together we're going to lose everything he built. Then he dies. Just like that." He snapped his fingers. "Now you're telling us there's a fourth brother?" "Mr. Andreas, the very fact that you didn't know your father had another child is proof that your sense of family leaves a bit to be desired." Darius nearly cursed. Who was his womanizing father to tell him that he had no sense of family? His father had abandoned his mother. Hell, Stephone had abandoned him until he was in his teens. And then he'd appeared in Darius's life only because he had wanted to ensure that Darius went to a good university so he could be groomed to work for Andreas Holdings. "For decades our father preached that we shouldn't take family troubles to outsiders." He rose. "Yet it looks like that's exactly what he's done." He reached for the baby carrier. Now that the shock was receding, things were beginning to sink in and make sense. He didn't really need DNA to tell him this was his brother. His father had been living with a thirty-year-old woman. It was no shock she'd gotten pregnant. Gino had all the physical markings of an Andreas. With his father's name on the birth certificate and Gino's name in the will, this little boy was family. And his father wanted him to care for him. So he would. Unlike his two brothers, Darius had always done what their father had asked. "We'll take our brother and go now." Whitney held back the carrier. "Dad?" Gerard said, "There's more." Darius just barely controlled his rising fury. "More?" "You, Darius, get custody of Gino, but you share it with Whitney." He turned his heated gaze on her. Her yellow hair was probably pretty, but she had it rolled in a tight, no-nonsense bun at the back of her head. Her gray suit hid any hint of the body beneath it. He caught the gaze of her blue-gray eyes. In spite of the fact that she dressed to downplay her appearance, Darius felt a click of attraction. And it was mutual. He saw the flicker in her pretty blue orbs. "It's up to you how you divide Gino's time. If you want to have him three days a week and Whitney four, or if you want to have him for two weeks a month and Whitney two, whatever you choose is up to you two. But she will vote his share at your board of directors meetings." This time Darius did curse. But he quickly pulled in a breath, struggling to rein in his temper, and glanced again at Whitney. The click of attraction he'd felt when he'd first looked into her eyes turned into a current of electricity that zapped between them. They were definitely attracted. If this were any other day, any other time, any other circumstance, he would have pursued her. Peel off a few layers of clothes, take down her hair--he was just about certain he'd find paradise. But those eyes, those pretty Persian-cat eyes, told him to forget it. It didn't matter if they were attracted to each other. They had a job to do. Raise Gino. Together. Whitney stayed perfectly still under Darius Andreas's scrutiny, though warm, sweet attraction hummed through her. She ignored it. He was a gorgeous man with his dark, brooding good looks, his tailored suit made to accentuate his broad shoulders and trim hips, and his commanding personality. Any woman would react to him. Simply from the way his other brothers hadn't even spoken since introductions were made, it was clear that Darius was the brother in charge. And that was very sexy. With his piercing onyx eyes boring into hers, she suppressed a shiver. But she wasn't worried about falling victim to the attraction. Attractions frequently grew into relationships and relationships made people vulnerable. The pain that had followed the loss of her husband had been indescribable. She'd never put herself through that again. She'd never even let herself get close. She couldn't be attracted to Darius Andreas. She refused. Darius squeezed his eyes shut in disgust and popped them open again. "All right. Fine." He motioned for Whitney to follow him. "Let's go." "Go?" "If this baby's on the board, he's working for a living." Whitney's dad laughed. "Very funny, Darius." "I'm not laughing. My father left the company in a sad state. There's work to do. And nobody's excused. Since your daughter has his vote, she'll pull his share of the duty." "That's preposterous--" "Dad." Whitney interrupted her father. "It's okay. I've never been one to shirk my responsibilities." She straightened her shoulders and looked Darius in the eye, accepting his challenge. If he thought he'd intimidate her on day one, he was sadly mistaken. She could handle a little work. "If everybody's working, then I will, too." "All right," her dad agreed, "but before anybody leaves there's one more thing." Darius turned. His dark eyes were ablaze now. Whitney's dad looked from Darius to Cade to Nick and back at Darius again. "With someone else in possession of a one-third share of Andreas Holdings, and four brothers sharing the other two-thirds, you don't have to be a math scholar to know that individually none of you has controlling interest in the whole company." He glanced from Darius to Cade to Nick again. "Your father has instructed me to allow the holder of the one-third interest to remain anonymous until she decides how to handle her position. She's in her seventies, so she may simply want to sit back and enjoy the profits. But if she decides she wants to be active in the company, you had better be united or Andreas Holdings will end up being run by somebody other than an Andreas."

The gross darkness shall be dense, the sun will seem to be gone for millions as blackness encircles them. The Spirit of Doom will rejoice! Even some waves of insanity shall arise with great speed like a hungry sea monster to lick the face of earth like it was only melting red ice. As a result, the earth as it will then be known shall began to melt away from that cold shoulder of hatred, under many brand new waters of many sorry sorrows that shall be very sure to turn the planet inside out. upside down, and back again, as it will rapidly go belly up and six feet under. It shall therefore become the time of desolation, a time of carnage, a moment of agony and a period when evil souls shall have a license to kill, permission to maim and give no applause when they only injure. All the world shall joyfully watch and all the wicked ones of the world shall laugh as madmen as a frothy river of blood is unexpectedly unleashed upon repentant innocents of the Most High. Then shall chaos come alive with murder on his depraved mind. Nor shall that greedy wretch ever be happy with little injuries. For that vain spirit of utter contempt shall happily cause the heavens to roar and the earth to rumble, and the utter darkness of shadowy character shall unexpectedly loom, as the spirit of the heaviest heaviness then swiftly sweeps in like a blistery gale of no good. A lunatic shall abruptly be like a bolt of lightning that shall crackle as a hen, and a great fire of terrible destruction shall quickly break out, and where those incinerating flames of unspeakable calamity are fanned, it shall keep keep on thickening into a morbid inferno of boiling red hot emotion, ready to kill, ready to dismember and more than ready to come against anything honest that dares to get in it's way.. Then the drunken spirit of death serial killer style shall reign with slobber drooling down it's mouth as darkness darkly rules; For the intense animosity of many bitter and angry souls will be extremely frightful to behold. Even the wrathful fallen angel of the screaming wind of madness will see all of the horrors of many rocky hearts combined: And lo! Tremendous shall be the deepest foul emotions that this demon shall help to bring forth from many blood crazy crazies like many springs of inflaming Sulphur that will flash from beneath his wings! Hark, his strong voice shall the silence break and many screams shall be screamed, and many saddened cries will be ignored. Mad chaos from the chains of death shall run the rampant like a plague that suddenly awakes

to pour out many fevers of infirmity in order to collect the corpses of many multitudes. Then shall a warm deluge of plasma burst into a deathly flame of no more second chances as children of the king are given crowns of thorns to wear. The Sick earth shall then utter some convulsive groans from shore to shore as people are slain for their happiness. And even nature shuddering shall feel the horrid roar of much laughter as helpless souls are tied down with a cage around their heads, just to feed some hungry rats. Then the expanded waters of a multitude of tears shall gather quickly on the plain, and they will rapidly began to float away the fears of the living by making them to be dead. Then as that satanic spirit of death rushes onwards, with a sweepy red sway they shall flow as a flood of the greatest woe.. *1 And if all of the above wasn't bad enough the ancient prophecy of Lazarus added: "Behold the dreadful wailing of the sodomites who wallow in moribific blood issuing forth from the putrid bladder of Satan. Your guts will be spun on the loom of judgement, to drip like pus into the mouths of the unconverted. 2 You will become like shit on the shoe of Lucifer, the gristle in a pool of Demonic vomit. You will also become the genital warts that adorn the arse of Hades. 3 All of this and more shall you become in the final days of Man. The dragon and beast cast into Hell, Death into the valley of Jehoshaphat. 4 The earth shall shake at the end of days, Men will flee into holes and caves. 5 All hail the swarm of demons that cometh like flies from the bottomless pit. 6 Hark the horns of Armageddon for they herald the messianic oracle of slaughter and wrath. Apocalypse, an oracle of darkness, and brimstone and fire. 7 Apocalypse, the whore of Babylon and the Demonic holocaust. 8 Apocalypse, the shattered universe, and a fellowship of death. 9 Apocalypse, the number of the beast, and the devouring locust. 10 Apocalypse, a holy revelation, and the seventh seal of God. 11 Apocalypse, Seducer of earth, and pale horse of death from the flames of the Satanic war machine that's born of the dragon of chaos, way before the dead will be reborn.

Left Behind Answered Verse by Verse David Reed 2008-01-01 Will unbelievers and half-hearted churchgoers have 7 more years to make up their minds about Christ after He raptures the Church? LEFT BEHIND gives them all a 'second chance.' But is that what Jesus taught? His parables of the talents, the wise and foolish virgins, the wheat and the tares, and the faithful and evil servant all show him returning unexpectedly with both rewards and punishments in his hands. Neither the parables nor the plain words of Christ teach a second chance for those surprised by his coming. But LEFT BEHIND does. Few Christians realize LEFT BEHIND tosses aside the teachings of Luther, Calvin, Tyndale, Wesley, Wycliffe and Spurgeon. Read dozens of quotes from these and other respected sources that show LEFT BEHIND strays far from the truths Bible readers have understood for centuries. Author of JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES ANSWERED VERSE BY VERSE and MORMONS ANSWERED VERSE BY VERSE (Baker Book House), David A. Reed is known worldwide as an expert in refuting false prophecy.

Facing the Future Jerry B. Jenkins 2012-12-14 This series is based on the best-selling adult Left Behind series. Readers will see the Rapture and Tribulation through the eyes of four kids who have been left behind.

Praying for Your Second Chance Elmer Towns 2011-07-28 Walk with the Israelites as they discover who they are and where they are going. As with his nine previous "Praying the Bible" books, Dr. Elmer Towns writes Praying Numbers and Deuteronomy in a poetic style, combining modern-day language with a lyrical twist. You will be amazed when the Shekinah-glory cloud lifts from the Tabernacle, the silver trumpet sounds, and three million move as one toward the Promised Land. You will be with Moses as he sees the rich grass, the waving golden grain, and the forest at the heart of the Promised Land-and as he lays down in death on top of Nebo. The Always-Present One came with a flaming fire at His right hand. Yes, [He] truly loves [His] people. He takes care of all those who belong to Him (Deuteronomy 33:2-3 PEB). Those who know how important it is to enjoy the Lord's Word, will appreciate the delicious detail and robust research that has gone into this seminal work. The stories bring to life the wanderings of the Israelites and their ever faithful God Almighty.

Alien Warrior's Second Chance Sue Mercury 2021-10-26 Warrior Zorras always takes what he wants—and he wants her. When Karla flees Earth for the safety of planet New Vaxx, the last thing she expects is for one of the huge aliens to show an interest in her. Yet the sexy Vaxxlian warrior named Zorras keeps coming around, and he even threatens to kidnap her. Good thing she's a fast runner. She tries to convince Zorras he's wasting his time—she's too old to have his children—but this news doesn't deter him in the least. He insists she's the loveliest female he's ever seen and claims he recognizes her as his one true mate. But even if he's telling the truth, Karla is nervous about mating with a Vaxxlian. Her first marriage wasn't a happy one and she never planned to marry again—let alone enter an everlasting mating bond with a bossy, Vaxxlian warrior. She'll just ignore the handsome alien and hope he goes away. Yep, that'll work. Or will it? After losing his first mate during the war, Zorras longs for a second chance. The lonely widower doesn't care that Karla can't have offspring—he only wants her. He's convinced they're soulmates, and he keeps trying to make her visit Vaxxlian Matchmakers so the psychics can verify what he already knows. Surely if one of the psychic matchmakers tells Karla that Zorras is her one true mate, she'll agree to become his wife. But the pretty human is frustratingly strong-willed and refuses to do as he says. Maybe he'll follow through with his threat to kidnap her, after all. What could possibly go wrong?
